BERLIN, Dec. 10 .- The army bill was introced to-day in the Reichstag. General Von Kaltenborn-Stachau, Minister of War, accom ng and earnest speech in its support. He enter at any moment into a final war, which ild dwarf all preceding wars, in the magnitude of the forces engaged, and the isto be decided. It was imperative that every man in Germany able to arms should be ready to respond when called upon. The bill was a measure of su-preme necessity, and demanded no sacridee that the patriotism of the nation should be willing to grant, and no sacrifice greater than what other nations were making in preparation for the mighty struggle that might at any time begin. It was in obedience to the supreme need of preparing Germany for that struggle that the bill had been prepared, and the Government hoped and expected that it would receive the support of every one interested. support of every one interested in maintaining the integrity of the Fatherland and in defending those ad vantages which it had cost so much of Ger-man blood and German energy to obtain. The war Minister described at length the details of the bill and showed that every effort had been made to make the burden as light as a prudent regard for the security of the country and the efficiency of the army would The address was favorably received and the utterance of Gen. Von Kaltenborn-Stachau in regard to the almost certainty of a great European war at an early date evi-dently produced a profound impression as ing the predictions of Chancello Caprivi on the same subject.

TOPIC PARIS, Dec. 10 .- It is reported that M. Bourgeois, Minister of Justice, will pardon M. Drumont, editor of La Libre Parole, who is serving a term of imprisonment for libel, with a view to having him appear as a wit. ness before the Panama Investigating Committee. M. Drumont has refused to give any timony relative to the Panama affair unless he is unconditionally released. It is believed that he has important knowledge regarding the affairs of the company and that it would be a good stroke of policy to release him. Bourgeois is the ideal Minister of Justice dreamed of by M. Brisson. M. Bourgeois bowed to the latter's omnipotence and M. bowed to the latter's ominpotent power of Brisson personifies the supreme power of France. The Cabinet has capitulated to M. those conspiring against the Republic. The steady working of this inquisitorial committee will raise a feeling in the country that will powerfully aid in undermining the present regime. It may be that this anxiety of

The evidence of M. Viau before the Panama Canal Investigating Committee was intended to disprove the Chevillard story implicating M. Barbe in the Panama scandals.

Princess May ordered her coachman to stop and directed her footman to deprive the coster of the stick with which he was beating his animal. The Princess spoke to the coster, but was greeted with a shower of abuse of the lowest kind. The man demanded the name of the woman who had dared to interfere with what he considered his right. The Princess informed him who she was, and the man was dambiounded when he learned that he had been abusing one so near the Queen and who is universally loved for her generosity and sweetness of character to the poor. He begged pardon in a most humble way. The Princess forgave him and then lectured him on his cruelty. The police had been attracted to the scene and would have arrested him had it not been for the intercession of the Princess May. She also asked the officers not to report the insults that the man had offered hef.

ton and the cause of religion incalculable injury by representing a state of things here which does not exist. The innumerable stories they have sent out in regard to the great crowds of alling people who have gathered under the "miracle" window and gone back to their homes cured of chronic diseases are almost pure fiction. These yarns have themselves brought a miscellaneous lot of infirm people here, but there is not an authentic case of going away cured. One day a month ago an old man, crippled for life, prayed under the window, and in his excitement threw away his crutches, and asserted that he could walk as well as he could when a boy. He walked away, but when he reached home and became caim discovered that he was in intense pain, and had to take to his bed for a week, and when he arose he had to take to his crutches again.

A case of a girl from Minneapolis was cited. She came to Canton and the story tellers related that she was cured of a disease of the spine of ten years' standing. Having a lively imagination the girl did state that she was much improved. Not twenty-four hours after, however, she suffered a relapse and now has the disease, which is plainly incur able, as bad as ever. The people of Canton and vicinity are intelligent and respectable and they seriously object to being scandalized by the stories that are being sent out in regard to the alleged miracle cures here. Neither the clergy nor the people take any stock in the miracle nonsense. To be sure, some infirm persons, airtracted hither by the cruel yarns sent out, occasionally appear at the residence of the Catholic priest and ask for the privilege of being prayed with at the little church of St. Michael. Such requests are always courteously granted by Fr. Jones, but he does not believe and does not profess to believe that their is any superhuman power in the alleged image of Mary and the Christ child in the little window over the church door.

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 10 .- In 1859 Polly Frisch ted in Genesee County for killing her husband and two children by poisoning them with arsenic. She was at first sent to the prison at Sing Sing, but afterwards was transferred to the Kings County Penitentiary and has now served an imprisonment of more than thirty-three years. Dr. Homer L. Bartlett, for many years attending physician at the penitentiary, has assured Gov. Flower that whatever might have been her mental condition at the time of the commission of the crime or afterwards she is now and for many years has been perfectly sane, and there is no reason to believe that she will ever become otherwise. During her imprisonment at the penitentiary she has been employed almost constantly in the hospital, where she has been of great service. She is now quite old and feeble and a very strong appeal has been presented to Gov. Flower for her pardon. The District Attorney who prosecuted her, recommended some years ago that she be released and several persons of the highest respectability have undertaken to provide her with a suitable home. The Governor therefore pardoned the woman.

ITALIAN LABORERS HELD IN SLAVERY BY NEGROES.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Dec. 10.-About a year ago the Keystone Employment Agency of this city started Charles Stein with a gang of twenty-five Italians for Logan County, W. Va., to work for Thompson Bros., contractors, on the Norfolk & Western Railroad. Logan County lies along the Kentucky line, and is county lies along the Kentucky line, and is one of the wildest parts of West Virginia. The country is sparsely settled, and law is unknown. Stein and his men got as far as Dinnegstown on their trip. There they stopped for food and to locate Thompson Bros. The town is on the line of the Norfolk & Western Railroad, and 200 colored men were camped near the town. Stein was given something to eat, but when he and his party tried to go on they were stopped by a number of colored men. Their opposers pulled revolvers and told the Italians that they would have to stop there and work or be shot. The foreigners had to stay. They worked there for several days on the road and got nothing for it. The colored men guarded them while at work and even while they slept they were watched. After a week of their slavery Stein and a number of his companions decided to make an attempt to escape. At midnight, while the guards slept, they stole away down the valley. They were pursued by the colored men with bloodhounds and only made good their escape after killing the dogs and eluding the negroes by hiding in the mountains. After a sevendays' tramp the gang reached the Kentucky line and got work in a mining camp among a lot of whites and blacks. Stein was the only member of the party who returned to Pittsburg. The others were scattered, he knows not where. Stein thinks that some of them were killed at Dinnegstown. He worked his way back to Pittsburg by slow stages. one of the wildest parts of West Virginia.

Before leaving he assigned some of his assets to those of his clients who could least afford the loss of the money intrusted to his care. A bill of sale of his library was left to a poor widow who had placed in his charge all she had, $4,500; another package contained a deed to some lots to indemnify another widow from whom he had received $5,000. Weinschke is probably in the City of Mexico.

A PITCHED BATTLE.

SPORANE, Wash., Dec. 10.—The streets of Wenatchee were the scene of a lively combat last night when about 200 Italians and as many railroaders indulged in a mortal combat which cost fully three lives. The trouble grew out of a woman by the name of Susette who was living with a man by the name of Guisseppe Vaco. She tired of her Italian companion and attempted to leave him to live with a man by the name of Tom Guil-land, when the trouble began. The streets were lined with Italians and railroad men and during the desperate battle for the pos-session of the woman twenty-five Italians were killed and wounded.

NORTH DAKOTA LIQUOR TRADE, The Prohibition Law Has Increased It

Enormously. FARGO, N. D., Dec. 10 .- A big row has been kicked up in this State over the question whether prohibition shall be resubmitted. Shanley of the Catholic Church started the rumpus by writing the following letter:

''A casual chat with Editor Kellogg of the Jamestown Mert has found its way into the papers, and so I am compelled to state my views on prohibition as it exists in North Jakota. I am convinced that our unique brand of prohibition is doing incalculable harm to the State and to many of the inhabitants and making us the laughing stock of all our observant visitors. Wholesale liquor dealers have informed me that their sales in this State are nearly three times greater now than formerly. Railroad and express men bear testimony to the truth of the liquor dealers' statements. Commercial travelers tell the same story. Hotel men who have no "blind pig" annex scarcely know what to do with the empty whisky bottles left in the rooms by the guests. Farmers who formerly took a drink or two when in town now keep a jug or a five-gallon keg at home and tipple all the time. While carefully refraining from approving or disapproving of prohibition as a theory, I assert that prohibition is a flat failure in North Dakota. If the people want prohibition, let them insist on its enforcement; if they do not want it, let them have the courage to say so and do away with it, and in its place give us some means of regulating the traffic in hell-broth."

This letter has drawn forth a storm of constarted the rumpus by writing the following broth."

He hurried East, expecting on his return to be made manager of the Tacoma and Seattle Theaters. Nov. n, Treasurer Cornelius S. Bliss, J. H. Man ninent members of the Republica and rich massifacturers are willing to put up money to pay for defeating the will of the people in Kansas, Montana and Wyoming and securing the election of Republican Senators from these States. A number of Republican Senators are not in favor of their party trying to continue in control of the Senate, and Mr. Clarkson is said to be opposed to going into the steel.

The number of those who are satisfied to let go all hold on the Government is growing. They bring to bear the argument that the Democrats should be held responsible for all legislation, and that by giving them (the Democrats) rope they will sooner be ousted. If the Senate remains Republican it must necessarily be an obstructionist body, giving the incoming administration every excuse for lack of energy in legislation. Besides, there will be an enormous deficit in the revenues for the coming year, and the Republican leaders have no desire to be in any way responsible for the legislation necessary to meet it. As one of the conferrees expressed it: "This will be a good year for the g. o. p. to catch its breath."

Democratic Senators are divided as to the situation, but a large majority of them are ready to accept the challenge of their opponents to be responsible for legislation.

necessary to complete it when Congress voted to send the Exposition to Chieago. Ten milion dollars was thought to be the limit then. Auditor Ackerman's report just issued shows that the exponditures to Dec. 1 have been $12,460,238.61. The receipts have been $12,29,451.78. The available balance on hand Dec. 1 was $636,068.33, about enough to last two weeks at the present rate of expenditures. But the souvenir coins are coming soom, and the directors have nearly $2,000,000 yet in Exposition bonds from which no cash has been received, so the machinery will be kept well lubricated.

A REPORT WHICH CAUSED THE CANCEL-LATION OF INSURANCE POLICIES.

Chief Desmond Receives a Tip From a "Friend" Apprising Him of a Plot to Blow Up Several Washington Avenue Buildings-A Street Watch Kept by

Contrary to the expectation of some peoourth street and Washington avefirmly this morning as ever. out to be reduced to ashes, but when the is morning they found things just as they and left them. No smell of kerosene was de-ected, and the entire structure was firebugs as any of its massive companions. For two days some insurance men who have taken risks in the old Armory Building have on the anxious bench owing anonymous letter received of Police Harrigan, and erday they hastened to cancel r policies, much to the surprise of the lers, many of whom were not told of the ns of the agents and were much disreasons of the agents and were much dis-gruntled at their summary action. Last night fifteen men from the Salvage Corps guarded the building, and the policemen in the vicinity kept a sharp ear for the stealthy tread of the incendiary.

read of the Incendiary.

THE WARNING LETTER.

The letter which caused all this uneasiness was addressed to Chief Desmond, and was as BILLY—You done me a kind turn some years ago, and it's my turn now, if it does any good. Billy, there is a gang going to burn the old Armory building on Fourth street and Washington avenue if they can before the 12th of this month. I give no names, as they might kill me if they found out I gave them away. Look out. NO SAINT.

The Chief of Folice has no idea from what course this startling communication came. source this startling communication came, and was not disposed to give credence to it, but in order to be on the safe side he instructed his men to watch the building. The insurance men did the rest. Some decided to revoke their risks without waiting to see whether risks without waiting to see whether the building would be burned, while others sought to prevent loss by notifying the Salvage Corps and having the property carefully guarded. It is probable that the building was the safest property in the city last night so far as fire is concerned. Men stood at all corners and guarded each entrance, while others secreted themselves and kept a careful vigil through the long hours of the night and early morning.

the long hours of the night and early morning.

The occupants seemed to be the least concerned of all those interested. They went home last night and slept soundly, and this morning were of the opinion that the whole scare was a hoax. Galer & Stroh, wholesale milliners, who occupy the entire third story and part of the second floor, had not heard that there had been any scare about the safety or the building until informed by a Post-Disparch reporter. Mr. Galer said that yesterday a young man representing King's Agency had asiled at the office and told his partner that he had been instructed to inform him that his $10,000 policy had been revoked. "We did not care about that one way or another," he continued. "Mr. Stroh mentioned the fact to me when I came in, and I did not even inquire what company the policy was with. We can easily place that insurance somewhere else if they don't want it. The young man gave no reason, but simply said he had been told to notify us."

Mr. Jacobson, of M. Jacobson & Co., on the first floor, Washington avenue side, said that Agent Crone, of the American Insurance Co., had sent a message to him that a $500 policy on his goods had been cancelled. The messenger said that word had been received from the East that the building was to be blown up. "I don't believe that," he said, "and I'll just take that $500 and put it somewhere else." The Sale, Mariner & Rosenthal Millinery Co. was notified by the Blossom Agency that $7,000 insurance on their stock had been cancelled. "I told them," said Mr. Sale, "that they would have to give me my

The Sale, Mariner & Rosenthal Millinery Co. was notlined by the Blossom Agency that $2,000 insurance on their stock had been cancelled. "I told them," said Mr. Sale, "that they would have to give me my money back. I don't propose to have people coming here one day and getting us to masure and then the next day withdrawing the risk. I have heard nothing about any danger to the building."

Brooks Bros. are the only firm that was arected by the recent fire alluded to now in the old Armory building, and the item was construed as meaning that their presence was a menace to the structure. The firm is said to be entirely reliable, and there seems to be no reason for such an insinuation.

To-day the insurance men have precovered from their scare and believe the letter received by Chief Harrigan has no foundation.

The building is owned by the Ames estate and is heavily insured in a number of differsat companies.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—The Democratic United States Senators who came to town yesterday to devise means for protecting the Senate in the interests of the Democratic party, and who are stopping at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, were joined this morning by several members of the Democratic National Campaign Committee. Arrangements were made for an important conference, which will be held this evening. The National Campaign Committeemen, who with Senators Gorman, Brice and Carlisle Will be present are Messrs. Conferences will be held at the Flith Avenue. Conferences will be held at the Flith Avenue. Genjamin McMillan of Tennessee and Martin Maginnis of Montana are also in town. The members of the National Campaign Committee are here only for the purpose of advising with the Senators on the political situation in Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming, Montana, North Dakota and California. Maj. Maginnis has been called in to give the members of the committee advice regarding affairs in Montana, That State and Wyoming and Kansas will come in for the greatest share of attention. A question to be discussed is whether counsel will be employed to aid the different State committees in preventing the Republicans from capturing the Legislatures and sending Republicans to the Senator Chandler was seen this morning. He said that the mission of the Democratic Senatorial Advisory Committee in New York was correctly reported by Senator Gorman in the statement which he issued last night. There was nothing to be added to that statement, he said. All three of the Senators have persistently denied that their mission, or even an incidental part of it, was to confer with Mr. Cleveland about the policy of the Democratic party in the upper house. So far as could be learned none of them has yet visited Mr. Cleveland.

A matter that is causing much speculation is whether Senator Hill will attend the caucas of the Democratic Senators. He is a member of the Advisory Committee, but so far has given no indication that he will take part in the deliberations.

Notwithstanding the assertion of the Senator that the party's policy on the immigration and other questions will be talked over.

MAY NOT FINISH TO-DAY.

The Barbers' International Association

in a Wrangle Over Sunday Closing. The delegates to the Journeymen Barbers Convention will have to work hard this aft ernoon if they would get through their bust ness in time to leave to-morrow for their homes, So much time has been con homes. So much time has been consumed in amending the constitution, that the reports of committees have not yet been reached. Some of these are deemed important, and it may take some time to dispose of them. For instance, there are several cases before the Grievance Committee that will be likely to cause debate. The election of officers has not taken place, and in short the volume of business before the body is too great to be dispatched at a single session. This forenoon nothing was done except to make some changes to the constitution. It is probable that a night session will be held, as many of the delegates say they cannot remain in the city until next week.

Jack Ramsey. UNIONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 19 .- Two of the cases against Jack Ramsey, the bandit, were fin shed to-day, and both juries brought in verdicts of guilty. In the Prinkey case Marti was acquitted. The counsel for Ramsey made a strong plea in his behalf in the Prin key case. Attorney Marshal claimed that the identification of Ramsey was incomplete

He pleaded for justice.
"Surely," he said, "the law had hold enough on this man without this case, " He held that the identification of the watch was not positive. For the commonwealth Mr. Lindsay in an impassioned address held that the watches of David and Ramsey had been a wchanged for purpose of mystification. It was made by counsel of the neck movement and light step of Ramsey. The step was acquired whilst for three years a hunted beast in the mountains, starting at every sound, seeing an officer in every bush. At this Ramsey smiled contemptuously. Ramsey and Cooley he said was a case of blary and lier little lamb. In fact he was a reputed leader of the gang. The evidence trying to prove an alibi was torn to shreds. As for Sam Jones and Montana Pete these personages were figments of the imagination. These two had been allied with the gang for years but nobody had everseen them. The fact was these marauders took these names when on their expeditions and Jack Ramsey in the dock was Montana Pete when he had a gun on his shoulder in the hills. In the Dils case, the victim, who is a boy, identified Ramsey as one of the outlaws who robbed and tortured him hast September. The robbers stripped him of everything, including his knife and shoe laces. the watches of David and Ramsey had been

Committee of Promoters Call at the White House. WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 10 .- A committee omprising Hon. George L. Converse of Ohio, Hon. William Mayberry of Michigan, F. J. New York, C. F. Cragin of Illinois and Hon. National Nicaraguan Convention, had an audience with the President this morning He listened with interest to dence with the President this morning. He listened with interest to the representations made by the committee and responded in a short address, saying among other things that the world was calling for the construction of the Nicaraguan Canai and he could not see how anyone could possibly find grounds for objection to it. The absence of the canal retards, he said, the progress of the world. It was our natural coast line, and if the United States does not proceed, England or some other power would, and that was something we should not permit. All parts of this country were equally interested it it.

Ex-senator Warner Miller, President of the Nicaragua Canal Co., appeared before the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations to-day and told the committee about the condition of the company's affairs and the canai. Mr. Miller appeared to aid the committee in the preparation of a bill for the benefit of the canai. He explained that the company's prospects were quite as good as they were last year; if anything, they are better. It is probable that a bill will be framed on the lines of last year's measure, in which it is provided that the United States government guarantee $100,000,000 of bonds issued by the company for the construction of the enterprise.

New York, Dec. 10 .- The steamer Leons left for Colon to-day taking as a passenge Hon. Patrick Egan, United States Minister to Chili. A great many of his Irish-American friends were at the port to see their distinguished countryman off.

There is no bitter feeling in Chili against the United States. My relations with the Chilians are the most cordial." cordial."

Mr. Egan did not know how long he would remain in Chili. After March 4 next he expected to be ready to receive his successor at any time. "What do you think of the future of the Republican party?"

'I am not discouraged in the least. The history of politics show that people about every five or ten years wish a change. This time the working people voted against the Republican part."

STYLISH COATS FOR GIRLS.

Some Have Capes and Some Don't, According to the Wearer's Preference. In this age the children have a fondness for things in fashion just the same as their mothers. A coat which combines warmth and comfort, as well as a certain jaunty style, is made of dark-brown tweed, with a deep English cape and turned-down color. The cape is bound with a narrow rim of darkgreen leather, and the large buttons down the front are also of the leather. DRESSES FOR SCHOOL GIRLS.

All of Them Are Pretty and Made of Suitable Material.

No woman is too busy, even at this busy season, to consider the engrossing subject of clothes—especially her clothes. The debu tante is interested in the topic also. But with he girl in her teens it is different. She has subjects of much more importance to think of than clothes and she cheerfully lays the burden of her attire on the shoulders of mother. These hints, therefore, are for the moth er's benefit.

A pretty gown for a girl of 18 is made of silk warp Henrietta cloth of a magenta shade. The skirt is igored and made with About the bottom are three narrow rows of black silk braid. There is a pointed bodice to the gown, decorated with square lapels, which have long jabotends. These lapels are outlined with two rows of the black braid, and between is a soft arrangement of chiffon the tint of wild-rose petals. From the shoulder to the elbow the sleeve is a huge puff of the Henrietta. Then it is caught and banded with piece of ribbon of stripes of magenta and black. Below this is another smaller puff, ending in the deep, straight cuff.

For a small girl of 8 or 9 a pretty little frock wear is made of dark brown wool benga line. The garment is made all in one, the full skirt being edged with a ruching of light brown ribbon shot with gold. On the waist a jacket effect is gained by the arrangement of the ribbon ruching. With this is worn a deep bertha of point d'Irelande lace. The sleeve is composed of the usual puff and straight cuff, separated by a lace frill.

The dress in which bright tartan plaid is effectively shown is of navy blue wool rep. The skirt hangs loosely from a shirred belt, the fold at the bottom being edged with black feather stitching. The round baby waist is more intricate than the name im-plies. Its foundation is bright red and green tartan plaid. Over this at certain intervals fall long folds of the dark-blue rep attache at the waist and collar. The leg of mutton sleeve has the full puff made of alternate bands of rep and plaid. NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The sudden calm which followed "out great victory" is again broken, and we are partly indebted to Mrs. Mary Lease for the change. Mrs. Lease has been notably successful by breaking calms ever since she rose in Albaugh's Opera-house, Washington, two years ago and disturbed the harmony of the Woman's Council by her famous attack the Woman's Council by her famous attack on Senator Ingalls. The writer was present at the time and telegraphed the speech to the POST-DISFATCH. She still retains a vivid remembrance of the orator's appearance, of which the picture here presented gives a good idea. As Mrs. Lease has decided that she will represent Kansas in the Senate halls, it may not be out of place to recall the circumstances attending her first public appearance in the capital.

resent Ransas in the Senate mans, a may not be out of place to recall the circumstances attending her first public appearance in the capital.

The evening had been a long one, and even Frances Willard, who presided at the committee meeting, looked as if she would not be sorry when it ended. So did the Rev. Annie Shaw, who sat at the President's right and ruthlessly tapped her little beli every ten minutes, regardless of the speaker's eloquence. We had heard about the progress or education of spain and about the temperance movement all over Europe. We had listened to a careful account of the good work of sisters gone before, and which might be done by the sisters present. A few persons in the audfence were nodding suspiciously, and at least one reporter at the press table had dropped into a refreshing nap.

Suddenly a voice was heard and the sleepers were aroused. So was every one in the building. The poet who "struck one chord in the organ" must have had much such a response, minus the musical quality. It is said of Mrs. Lease that no orator in the country can make himself heard as far as she can, and this statement will be promptly accepted by all who listened to her that night. The volume of sound, low-pitched and powerful, fairly flooded the hail. Out of it the hearers emerged, astonished and gasping. Then we all looked at the speaker. In appearance Mrs. Lease answered very well the definition of a line—she has leugth and breadth but not hickness. She is extremely tall and rather ungainly. Her features are sharp and her manner supremely self-possessed. She lost none of this self-possession on that evening when she found her words lost in a storm of angry hisses from her hearers, who were displeased by this statement:

"I do not deny that Senator Ingalls is a mart man. In fact it takes a very smart man to be the consummate scoundrel that Senator Ingalls is."

The leady from Kansas had forgotten that the Senator from her state had many friends in Washington. She was reminded of it.

the hoise was intolerable. In the midst of the uproar Mrs. Lease held her place in the center of the stage, absolutely unmoved, waiting for ellence. Miss Willard sprang to her feet. "I did not suppose there was any one in this audience rade abough to hiss a cents newspaper:

The phenomenon no longer appears a phenomenon among us, so common has it become; but perhaps the real reason why we have so readily sunk our sense of the conventional in a sense of the convenient is that our hunt is essentially a business-like and woman-like one. We come to it not for the meet, but for the stag; we have a rough country to travel, and we dress as best leases us and as we think will enable us best to enjoy the pleasures of our hunt with due regard to the susceptibilities of our neighbors. Thus, if it pleases her ladyship she will come in iskirt and tennis blouse and straw hat, and she will consider herself thus attired neither more nor less remarkable than her sister huntress who comes in the most generally accepted form of riding habit and skirt, than the bolder lady who comes in divided skirt, than the still bolder' who appears with nether garments propria quee maribus and riding-habit bodie, or than the lady, most courageous of all, who rides in long riding coat, breeches, and top boots. And I, for one, think that they are each and all entirely right.

RHEUMATISM

Is the name for a variety of inflammatory affections of the joints. It may be acute or chronic. Acute, or Inflammatory Rheumatism is likely to recur at stervals. Chronic Rheumatism may begin as a slow chronic disease, or may be oute at the start and become chronic after acute attacks.

Rheumatism is among the most common of diseases. Very dangerous to life under certain circumstances, no disease is ordinarily more destructive of comfort and happiness, more wearing and debilitating; none more thoroughly inespectites for labor. It is a "SECTION OF THE DAY OF JUDGMENT."

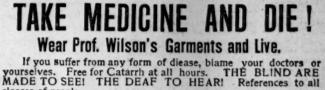

In those who have the rheumatic tendency the blood contains an excess of uris cid, and it is this which produces irritation in the affected joints. A general cause is found in some previous or contemporaneous disease or an inherited tenlency. The various causes produce, first, a congestion of the liver, then a disrdered blood and finally the rheumatic diathesis, or that condition of the blood which is the immediate source of rheumatism.

But, happily, by modern science all these conditions can be hanged. The disturbing cause can be expelled from the system, and in every instance suffering may be promptly allayed. The disease need never get into chronic or gouty condition if promptly and properly treated. Experience has demonstrated that mere outward applications are worthless. The disease has its seat in the blood, and any successful remedy must deal with the acid which poisons and inflames it. ATH-LO-PHO-ROS is a strictly scientific preparation for doing just this thing. By direct, simple and scientific action it operates on the blood, muscles and joints by taking the poison out of the blood and out of the system; it invigorates the action of the muscles and limbers the stiffness of the joints. It reaches the Liver and Kidneys, cleaning them from irritating substances, and if followed up after the rheumatic conditions. cease it will restore the organs to regularity and health and stop manufacture of the poisonous acid. This remedy, which has had such unparalleled success for many years, is not an accident. All forms of rheumatism have yielded to its influence, oftentimes the relief coming so promptly as to appear almost miraculous. It has cured the most obstinate cases, leaving the patient free from all suffering and discomfort. Testimony from those who have been for years sufferers would be incredible were it not absolutely vouched for. Some of this evidence, together with invaluable information concerning rheumatism and neuralgia, will be sent to any address on receipt of five cents in postage stamps. THE PULPITEERS EXPLAINING.

There are some rich things in the recent comments of the Philadelphia Presbyterian clergy on the national election.

Dr. Wills said: "As Presbyterians w feel proud in our Chief Magistrate, and when he retires to private life a mighty volume of commendation will follow him. His successor also knows the Presbyterian convicts in the Illinois penitentiary more catechism by heart. It seems that Presbyterians are the stuff from which Presidents and Cabinet officers are made." The doctor went on to say, as to the cause of the change, that there was a growing dissatisfaction regarding monopoly and oodle and the rum power at the polls.

Dr. Sullivan said that if it was the voice of the people that defeated Harrison, it was the voice of God on account of the opposition to Blaine, Quay, Platt and others.

Dr. Bolton did not believe that the Democratic party had a majority in this country; "it was the result of putting money in the hands of a class."

Dr. Brown declared that "the cause of the great upheaval originated in Rome, when orders were issued from the Vatican to the Bishops of France and America to It is clear that the next Postmaster-General will be a Roman Catholic and that all Postmasters under him will be Catholics."

Dr. Logan, judging from the signs of the times, believed that the next war would be between the ignorant and the intelli-

Dr. Dickey believed that the rebellion was not over. "We were compelled not only to fight rebellion the last time, but also Romanism. They were united with rum before and defeated a good man. Mr. Cleveland had a Roman Cathed Mr. Harrison a second term the olic for Indian Commissioner, and plans people of Ohio may give Gov. McKinley are already on foot for the appointment of another show for the Governorship. It snother. Bishops have already been pleading. I will send these letters which I possess to Mr. Cleveland. The possibility is that the Postmaster-General will be a Roman Catholic. It has come to the time when we should be ready to take up arms against Catholicism."

Dr. Fulton said he was sorry attacks had been made on the Catholics. He did not fear the Catholic question in the least. He would have preached from his own pulpit the doctrine of Cardinal Gibbons' sermon. "I was in favor of Mr. Blaine and was sorry that he was not nominated. My second choice was Cleveland, although I voted for Harrison." There is no doubt but many of the preachers of the country are taking a deep interest in politics, though some of them do not appear to have labored to inform themselves so fully as they might have done had they been less occupied in saving souls. The Civil Service Commission has issued n annual report to let the country know that the Attorney-General had been notified of the violations of the law. This seems to be the only duty of this body, and it has not been shirked. It never did any real good directly, but by keeping up the agitation against blackmailing it may perhaps earn the salaries paid the members. Publicity in such matters is worth omething.

But this time the record of duty well done is accompanied by a suggestion: This is the first time the Civil Service commission has, in the midst of a presidenthe collection of these assessments, and it fect: public employes felt as they never be not contribute unless they chose, and that ever before, although it cannot be doubted that, as it was, altogether too much took tice will not be wholly broken up until it is nade a penal offense for any person whatsoever to solicit a political contribution from a Sovernment employe in any place whats ever. Such employes would then be left at they would not be asked to do so.

This is pertinent provided it be first assumed that with every change in the political character of the Administration the office-holders, big and little, must be bounced, and provided tenure is dependent rather upon partisan faithfulness than upon efficiency. As long as the "offises" long will the assessment system thrive and no law can be devised which will wholly prevent this species of blackmail.

All officers not directly concerned with the policy of the administration should hold their positions during good behavior. This is the objective point of all real reforms. Whether or not anything will be accomplished in this direction during the next four years remains to be seen, but measures with tariff duties. They must Mr. Cleveland's views on the subject are well known and he will at least try to initiate the reform.

TRUST ROBBERY.

Since the consummation of the treacherous scheme by which the Whisky Trust obtained possession of the Central and other distillery plants the price of highwines has advanced 15 cents. The price was $1.10 a gallon immediately before the sale. It began to advance immediately after, and reached $1.25 yesterday. The trust will soon gouge out of consumers the cost of crushing competition, and will gain an enormous profit besides, without the employment of more labor, the purchase of a bushel more of grain or the turning of an additional wheel.

The advances made are based upon no conditions of the market or of production facilities rendering them necessary. With distilleries rusting and rotting in idleness, grain cheap and abundant and labor crying for work the Whisky Trust is squeezing consumers by the force of monopoly. It is merely another instance of the greed and power of the trust monster exemplified in the coal combine, the sugar trust and many other forms of monopoly combination which feed upon the people and which fatten not by industry, thrift and the development of resources, but by monopolizing and cutting off development opportunities, checking industry and robbing consumers. Whether they lay their hands upon the necessities or luxuries their oppressive and blighting influence is the Under Republican policy these monopoly combinations have grown and flourished until they defy law and government. The Harrison Administration confesses to a miserable failure in its efforts to enforce a law specially made to suppress them. The Republican policy has been condemned and the Harrison Administration repudiated. Better things are expected of the incoming Democratic Administration. If the antitrust law is not strong enough it must be strengthened. If the Cleveland Administration cannot cope with the trusts it will stand condemned. The power of the trusts to rob and oppress must be broken.

IF Mr. Harrison is quoted correctly, only the highest patriotism should lead a President of the United States to accept a econd term. "Were you," says Mr. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: Harrison, "to ask me how long I had been in this position I would answer ten years And during all that time it appears there has not been a single week without an added sorrow. The ordeals, private and public, are such as I do not care to have repeated in my experience." Mr. Harrison will readily be believed, yet the American people need be under no apprehension. Even if Mr. Harrison himself had not consented to become a presidential candidate a second time, any President who may be elected in future will not resist a clear call for an additional four years of service. There is nothing upon which the American people may more surely rely than the patriotism of their Presidents. Are not all their Presidents

THE beautiful feminine custom now becoming a custom—of burying two or three husbands side by side, so that at the death of their wife she may be buried along-side or between them, has one drawback. If a woman has three or more husbands she cannot be equally near to each unless she consents to be buried at the head or foot of the graves of the dear departed. It would be well, perhaps, for a woman to take to herself nore than two husbands, so that she may show no partiality and be buried between them. THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

Seizing and Buining Streets To the Editor of the Post Dispatch:

indorse the communication or our "Street Railroad Kings" in last Tues-Look, for instance, at Lindell avenue, west of Vandeventer. Isn't it a burning shame of Vandeventer. Isn't it a burning shame that such a beautiful, ideal street should be so shamefully abused? Heavy hauling has nearly ruined it. It now is nothing but ruis, hills and hollows. Heavy wagons, when the weather is soft, soon cut the top gravel dressing down to the macadam substratum, and soon cut that out, as at present, and the Telford pavement is ruined. Now, unless our street Commissioner and Board of Improvements take more interest in it than they so far have, it will soon be past redemption. Why is it all sorts of, heavy hauling is allowed on this ovenue? Isn't it a boulevard, and as such specially protected against it? I am amazed at the apparent indifference and apathy of property against it? I am amazed at the apparent indifference and apathy of property owners on this fashionable boulevard. Did they not partly, if not entirely, pay for its reconstruction, and are they not specially interested? The same will apply to Washington avenue and Pine street west of Vandeventer. Union avenue is worso than either, however. The Suburban Railroad has virtually destroyed it from Delmar to Forest Park. It has bayled rock over the believer. however. The Suburban Railroad nas virtually destroyed it from Delmar to Forest Park. It has hauled rock over it to bailast its tracks, and the dirt to build its loop in the park, street and park privileges being given away as usual, I suppose, for nothing, or possibly some sort of considerations, but the result is as stated. I don't suppose the company will be compelled—as they should be—to put the street in same condition as it was before. Oh, no. Besides, Union avenue is one of the three main entrances to the Park. As the West End grows its necessity and importance will increase more and more. Now, with the Wabash tracks and the Suburban double tracks crossing each other on it, it will become simply a trap, and so dangerous to drive over that the avenue will have to be abandoned to the railroad. Probably this is what they want. It is the old, old story however as far as our street railroads are concerned. They no sooner obtain a "franchise," so called, than it rapidly develops into a grinding monopoly and we may just as well apparently shut our eyes and take our medicine gracefully, and abandon all such streets as they may want. This seems to be the history so far of these "franchises" in this city. Now I know people say we are helpless, only wasting our breath, that these corporations laugh at our simplicity and what are you going to do "about it? Well, I am sorry to say there is too much truth in these quirks. Won't you, Mr. Editor, as you have done so frequently in the past, lend your powerful arm to remedy these great abuses? The public is long suffering and slow to anger, but when once thoroughly aroused, as "frece as ten devils and as terrfole as hell." Then look out.

There is no doubt that if these concerts were put within the reach of the masses, both as to time and the price of admission charsed, there would be three times the attendance there is now. Why could we not have Sunday afternoon concerts, as in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Cincinnati?

Let us have Sunday afternoon popular orchestra concerts at is and 25 cents admission, by all means. They will furnish our symphony orchestra a chance to perfect litself and give legitimate and innocent, nay, even elevating, entertainment to thousands.

This suit is a sequel to a raid made on saturday, Nov. 26 last, by Detectives Scully and Kelly on a room over Jim Harrison's saloon, No. 14 North Eleventh street. McGinnis, Raymond and a boy Claude Emory were found in the room and there were cards and poker chips on the table but no evidence to show that the parties had been playing. Bros. against Griesedieck. The plaintiffs sued the Griesediecks for 1½ per cent commission on $200,000, which they claim they were authorized to negotiate the loan of for the defendants. The jury in the case found a verdict in favor of the plaintiffs for $300. In sustaining the motion for a new trial Judge Klein said; "Among other things which the jury were required to find before they could return a verdict for plaintiffs was the fact that defendants had agreed to pay a commission of 1½ per cent on said sum of $200,000. Unless the jury found this to be a fact the instruction did not authorize them to find a verdict in accordance with this finding. It is plain that the verdict for $300 is in the teeth of the instruction given.

"The Court cannot permit a jury to ignore its instructions, or to set up its opinion in a matter of this kind against the opinion of the Court as declared in his instructions. The motion for a new trial is therefore sustained."

Judge Klein to-day decided the highly senagainst Rosie Klefer, the trial of occupied his attention off and which occupied his attention on and on for a week. He said the defendant's cross-bill possessed absolutely no merit, and he would therefore dismiss it. He thinks from the evidence and the virtual admissions of Mrs. Klefer on the stand, that the husband was surely an injured party, and he fails to find that the testimony of Jennie Kaufmann should have any weight as bearing against the character of the husbaring against the character of the husbaring against the character of the surely superior of the and he fails to find that the testimony of Jennie Kaufmann should have any weight as bearing against the character of the husband, inasmuch as it was contradicted by him, and the alleged immoral conduct satisfactorily explained. He therefore grants him a decree of divorce. The custody of the little 3-year-old girl is given to the grand-parents, the father and mother of the wife. This is done, the Court states, because he wishes the child to have the benefit of its mother's care and attention. If, however, she fails to conduct herself properly in the future, the Court instructs the husband to make application at any time for a modification of this decree, and he will award the custody of the child to him.

BOARD OF FLOUR INSPECTORS.

A Movement to Substitute Salaries for

There is a movement on the floor of the Merchants' Exchange to cease compensating the Board of Flour Inspectors by fees, and to place them on the regular salary list. During the past year the fees collected have been small in amount, and the pay of the inspectors has been greatly diminished. Friends of the inspectors are, therefore, desirous that the fee system should be abolished and regular salaries paid by the Exchange be substituted. It was stated that Mr. Richard Perry, President of the board, was considering an offer to go to Kansas City at an annual salary of $2.500. Many members of the Exchange expressed them selves as opposed to the change, claiming that the Exchange had now enough on its shoulders, and arguing that if the shoulders, and arguing that if the fees were insufficient to properly compensate the members of the board, that the number should be reduced. Mr. Perry, when questioned, said that there had been some talk of substituting salaries for fees, but that as yet nothing had been done.

WAS A HABITUAL DRUNKARD.

the Bound Him in the Saloon One Night and Warned the Barkeaper-For Eight Hours She Waited in the Bain to Take Him Home-Pathetic Story of a Wife's Devotion.

The first case on record where a saloonkeeper has been prosecuted for selling ilquor to an habitual drunkard was begun to-day by saloonkeeper at Fifteenth and Chestnut streets, with selling liquor to Fred Pfeiffer after he had been notified not to by Mrs.

Mr. and Mrs. Pfeiffer have been married but a few months, and are living at 1614 Pine street. Their union would be a happy one but for the single failing of Mr. Pfeiffer, who, model husband, except one fault, and has for wife in various ways that he has tried to fight the thirst and sometimes succeeded.

fight the thirst and sometimes succeeded.

SHE SERVES NOTICE.

She aided him in the battle and as it was a hard fight she thought she would remove the cause by notifying the saloon keepers in her neighborhood not to sell her husband any liquor under any circumstances, as he was an habitual drunkerd, and spent money when drunk, that he should give to his wife. Last Monday night her husband did not return home at the hour he was accustomed to arrive, and Mrs. Pleifer was accustomed to arrive, and Mrs. Pleisfer suspected that he had fallen from grace. She visited a number of saloons in the neighbor-hood, and at last saw her husband sitting at a table with some men in Repetto's saloon. She opened the door and boldly walked in. Pfeiffer saw her but said nothing nor did he get out of his chair. He had taken several drinks and was utterly regardless of what bereil him or his. Mrs. Pfeiffer asked him to befell him or his. First, French and took his arm, but he refused to stir. He ordered the drinks for the crowd and when the bartender served them leave the place with her and took his arm, but he refused to stir. He ordered the drinks for the crowd and when the bartender served them she warned him not to sell a drep of liquor to her husband, as he was alreedy under the influence of drink and was a habitual drunkard. Pepetto paid no attention to her. He took Pfeifler's money and sold him another drink while Mrs. Pfeiffer stood by entreating her husband to leave the place.

AWARY WATCH.

Finding her husband to leave the place.

Finding her entreaties unavailing, she went outside and, though it was drizzling and the weather was cold, she stood in the doorway and waited for her husband for over an hour. It was 6 o'clock when she found him, and every hour after that until 2 o'clock in the morning the saloon and told the Pfeiffer, drenched to the skin and shivering with the cold, met her husband as he came out of the saloon and guided him home. The next day she saw Mr. Goode and made up her mind to prosecute Repetto.

The prosecution is based on Sec. 27 of a special act of the Legislature, passed in January, 1891, entitled, "An act to regulate the sale of intoxicating liquor in the original package or otherwise."

every offense, and in default of payment may be sent to jail.

Mrs. Pfeiffer stood by when Repette sold whisky to her husband four times, and each time told him not to do it. She will prosecute him criminally first and then sue him for $3,000 damages in the civil courts. It is the first prosecution under that law, which was passed at the same time the Newberry law went into effect, forbidding saloon-keepers to maintain billiard-rooms, concerts, card-rooms or entertainment halls in connection with their saloon.

MONTANA'S BEAUTY.

Trouble Over the Proposed Silver Statue

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 .- To say that the Montana World's Fair Commissioners are weary is ex-pressing it mildly. Col. J. O. This he did say, however: "It is true that we considered the claims of some twedty-five womensome of them were actresses. We decided unanimously on Ada Rehan. influence of liquor and she ran into her bedroom, he following. He shut the door and grabbed his wife by the throat and began to choke her. She screamed and one of her roomers named C. C. Brown came to her assistance and rescued her from her husband. Police Officer John Shannon was called and Lightner was arrested.

Lightner was arrested.

Lightner was formerly a conductor on the Olive street line. When he and his wife first separated she filed a suit for divorce. Lightner did not contest the suit but left the city, professing the deepest love for his wife and stating that he would go forth a wanderer. He sent back a letter to his wife. A short time later, dated somewhere down the river, which either openly stated or implied that he intended to commit suicide. It was a pathetic letter and fraught with expressions of love. The divorce was not granted Mrs. Lightner. Her husband to day stated that he went to his wife's house last night to get her to sign a deed to some property he owns in Southern Illinois. He pleaded his inebriated condition for his treatment of his wife, but claimed not to remember having choked her.

The men range from 5 feet 4 inches to 5 feet 6 inches in height, are strongly built and muscular, and in some instances, especially among the mountain Ainos, are thickly covered all over, except their feet and hands and one or two other parts of the body, with short black hair.

MAY MEET MOORE.

Johnnie Daly Likely to Face the Omaha Fighter.

THE OMAHA ATHLETIC CLUB OFFERS A PURSE FOR THE MILL.

Daly Had a Chance to Meet Tommy Ryan -Myer and McAuliffe Box To-Night-Jim Hall Speaks Up for Mitchell-The Prince of Wales' New Yacht-General Sporting News.

As was stated in the Post-Disparch recently, negotiations were in progress for a finish contest between Johnnie Daly of this city and Dick Moore of Omaha, who has been located at Chicago for some time past, and who, it will be remembered, was put out by Bill Baker two weeks ago. When Charley Daly, who is looking after his brother's in terests, heard that Moore had been defeated he came to the conclusion that it was no ikely a suitable purse would be bung up for he and Johnnie, but it seems that Moore's friends in Omaha have not lost confidence in him, and have induced the Omaha Athletic Club to notify Daly that a purse of $750 will be given him if he will come on and put out Moore. Charley does not think the purse large enough and is holding out for $1,000. He notified the Omaha Club managers of this fact two or three days ago, and is expecting a favorable answer to-day or to-morrow.

Moore is a much better man than many think he is. Until his defeat at the hands of Baker but little was known of him, and, of course, when Baker put him out so easily, he sporting men who witnessed his mill with affair, and looked like a sure winner, when Baker landed unexpectedly a terrific blow that settled matters. Should the Omaha Club, which should not be confused with the club before which Ryan and Jack Wilkes fought, come to time and consent to hang up a $1,000 purse the contest will take place some time next month.

Johnnie Daly came within an ace of getting on a match with Tommy Ryan, the welter weight champion of America, who has just signed articles to meet George Dawson, who defeated "Doc" O'Connell Thursday night in ing man was to have furnished the side stake for the St. Louis boy, and he sent a representative, in the person of one of Chicago's best known sporting writers, down to ascertain just what weight Johnnie could ascertain just what weight Johnnie could get down to. Ryan, it seems, had stipulated that 142 pounds, which he asserted is the weiterweight limit, should be agreed upon, but as Johnnie, who weighs about 170 pounds at present, could not promise to reduce lower than 150 pounds, negotiations were discontinued. "Johnnie has never gone through a course of hard training," said Charlie today, "and I did not like to promise to take off of him twenty-eight pounds when I was not positive I could doso without weakening him. If I was certain I could I would not have hestiated a moment to promise as no one if I was certain I could I would not have hesitated a moment to promise as no one would have been more pleased than myself, as it was the opportunity of his life.

Charley Daly is getting up a puglistic event for Monday, Dec. 26, the legally recognized Christmas holiday. The affair will take place somewhere outside of the city. The principal event will be a finish contest with four ounce gloves between Johnnie Daly and an unknown. A good sized purse has been guaranteed and a lively mill is looked for. Harry Sharp and Reddy Brennan of Streator will also spar six rounds for points.

MYER-M'AULIFFE BOXING BOUT. CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 10 .- At the Second Regiment Lake Front Armory to-night, Jack McAuliffe, lightweight champion of the world, and Billy Myer, the "Streator Cyclone," will meet for the third time within the roped arena, not, however, to reopen the question of superiority, which was decisively ettled at New Orleans last September, but to spar six necessarily friendly but prospectively spirited rounds. No attempt will be made to give the affair the semblance of a prize-fight. The police would look after that even if there were a disposition on the part of the contestants to become too realistic. There will be no seconds, no bottle-holders, no referce and no decision, except what the spectators may choose to give. There is no danger that the bout will have the effect of stripping McAuliffe of his laurels, or that it will elevate Myer to the position which he hoped to gain before he met the champion at the Olympic Club. Both are, however, determined to make as good a showing as possible, and the best ring tactics that each of them knows is likely to be brought to bear. Myer seems to be very much in earnest. He has been in training for some weeks and will enter the ring twenty pounds lighter than when he commenced work. McAuliffe does not place so much importance on the meeting. At any rate he has not trained for it, He carries about thirty pounds of superfluous tissue, and in the nature of things Myer will be taking an unfair advantage of him if he takes liberties with McAuliffe's stomach.

CORBETT'S PLAN. spar six necessarily friendly but prospect.

CORBETT'S PLAN. Boston, Dec. 10 .- Champion Corbett's nanager, Mr. Brady, said last evening that Corbett would not recognize any deposits made by Mitchell unless it was made with a reputable New York newspaper. Corbett will get ready to fight in September or Octo-ber next, but will not recognize Goddard un-til Goddard meets Jackson and decides the championship of Australia.

HALL SECURES A TRAINER. BELOIT, Wis., Dec. 10.-The probabilities are that John Kline of this city will train Jim Hall for his fight with Fitzsimmons. Hall telegraphed Kline asking for the latter's service. Kline is a very successful trainer and fitted Hall for his previous engagement with Fitzsimmons.

A barefaced attempt was made to buy Burge out in his recent fight in San Francisco. He was offered $2,000 in gold coin. Burge refused the offer. A day or two later the bribe was lacreased to $3,000, but Burge replied that he had a square record and didn't intend to injure it by selling out near the end of his puglissic career.

BASE BALL. "Charley Horses" came into fashion as a listinctively base ball ailment, and now the California league has added another special ill to the catalogue. Pete Sweeney is credited with "straining his heart" the other day.
The aliment will become common in the spring, when contracts are presented to some of the lads who have had nothing but plum pudding for three blessed years, while the magnates have been agitating the question of a monument to the man who invented cheese sandwitches.

JACK GLASSCOCK A JONAH. Glasscock has now played with Cleveland Cincinnati, Indianapolis, New York and St. Louis. In none did he achieve any popularity.-[Sporting Life. You could have gone farther and said that none of the teams he was ever connected with achieved either larity or even a fairly good position in popularity or even a fairly good position in the championship race, says a Smokey City scribe. Jack Glasscock is one of the, if not the, most unpopular players that comes to Pittsburg. He has always had the reputation of being a disorganizer and it would take pretty strong evidence to convince the public that his reputation was not fairly earned by Jack himself. A quick-tempered, quarrelsome player is a perfect nuisance on a team. Such a man certainly cannot play ball to the best advantage when he cannot govern his temper.

BASE BALL BRIEFS Gus Schmelz will manage the Chattanooga tea John G. Clarkson has sold his handsome Bosto home and will make his home in the West. Tip O'Neill is at Woodstock, Ont., and he has an nounced that he will go to Hot Springs to boil out Tip is fishing for a place.

The New York Club will not suffer much by the increased distance which the pitcuer will have to deliver the ball. Rusic and Grane are cannon ball twirlers, and could pitch the ball from center field if necessary. So opines Sam Crane, wednesday, is looking remarkably well. He has grown in weight, and appears to be very strong. Speaking of Charley Mitchell, his troubles and ambitions Hall, says:

"Before I left London Charley Mitchell was there to say good-bye. Charley is looking very well. Barring his trouble with that man Savage his mind is solely directed to ward arranging a fight with Jim Corbett, He firmly believes that he can defeat Corbett, and easily at that. I was in company with Mitchell on the night of his trouble with Savage. If anyone was to blame or should have been sent to prison it was Savage. Mitchell is innocent of any wrongdoing."

When told that Mitchell had started in on Tuesday last to serve his sentence of two months Hall said: "Well, as soon as his time is up he will come to America and fight Corbett; in fact he authorized me to make such a match for him. I guess he will be here about Feb. 15 next."

"Is your match with Bob Fitzsimmons a fixture?" the reporter asked.

"Yes," was the reply; "I'm going to fight this conceited fool at all hazards. I have already signed the agreement and he can't crawit his time. I would like to have fought in the North, but as Fitz is dead stuck on New Orleans I'll fight wherever he wants to, just to teach him that I'm his match."

The hard hard was a content of the sheets of the bookmakers that were doing business yesterday, developed that $2,500 had been paid out altogether, which was distributed as follows: The Barnegat Club, Eli Perles' book, $1,000; Glenn & Co., P. A. Brady's book, $460; the Suburban Club, $227; Stlenmeyer, $400; the Suburban Club, $227; May & Co., $153; the St. Louis Club, $22; Rich mond & Co., $30, and the Trenton Club, $156; May & Co., $153; the St. Louis Club, $22; Rich mond & Co., $30, and the Trenton Club, $156; Now, out of this amount Arthur White won $500, which was laid against his $2-note by Perles. An unknown female in the standhad another one of the latter's tickets calling for $250 against $1, and one of alex. Ullman's ticket-writers also had $1 or $2 on at 100 to 1. This demonstrates that it was impossible for Mc. Carthy to have won the $2,500 at the track. Glenn & Co.'s losses on the race was made up of place and show tickets. McCarthy, it is not thought won much, if anything at all on his horse's victory. Yesterday's sensation, as it certainly was, recalls Expense, Charley Maffit's horse's victory at the Fair Grounds last spring with 100 to 1 posted against 180. This was considered a soaker, but it hardly compared with White's ticket calling for $500 against $2. Eli Perles, who laid this endomous price, will never be able to live down the matter and to say that he will be joiled up by his brother bookmakers during the rest of his career in the business goes without saying. Ferles booked at Chicago last summer and mare $15,000, so it is said. Shortly afterwards he ran amuck of Frank Shaw and his coterie at $1. Paul.

Eli thought that Prince Fortunatus had a cinch on a race and refused to change his opinion even when Shaw and his friends disagreed with him to the extent of many thousands of dollars. The horse did not win and Eli's roll evaporated. If Perles keeps on he will have nothing to will when he dies but his whiskers.

ing but now the Prince's vessel will be the fastest yacht of the year and will sweep in all the prizes.

Mention of the vessel that is to be designed for the Prince has already been made in these dispatches. The yacht will be built on the Clyde by the Hendersons. It will have a steel frame and wooden planking, and, in the laying down of its lines, speed will be the first consideration. In size it will exceed the Thistle and Volunteer. It will be entered for all the principal fixtures of next year.

The Field is still sore over the America's cup. In an article to-day based on a cable dispatch to the Standard from New York it says that an awkward denouement is promised should Lord Dunraven's yacht win the prize. In such an event, it adds, some members of the New York Yacht Club are determined to apply for an injunction to prevent the club turning the cup over to the winner.

The Field expresses the hope that Mr. Carroll's new American cutter will win the Victoria Club's gold cup, adding: 'We then would be little troubled about the America's cup and that much discussed trophy would again sink into oblivion. The gold cup, the Field says, would have been absolutely at Mr. Carroll's mercy had not the Prince of Wales decided' to build a yacht, which decision has relieved Eritish yachtsmen of a most embarrassing situation.
